Discharging Children to Authorized Adults

Children may leave the center with their parents, unless parents have signed a waiver that gives their permission for someone else to pick up the child. The child can also be picked up if the parent/guardian has written a note or telephoned that someone new will be picking his or her child. In addition, we request a picture of any person that the parents authorize for pickup. Before the child can be released, the person who picks up the child must show a form of identification that indicated his or her name.
